

Advance praise for Reproductive Rights and Wrongs

"This is a book of conscience. Shocking, eloquent, carefully researched, it should be read—and acted upon."

—Gena Corea, author, The Hidden Malpractice
and The Mother Machine

"Stands out amid the rising tide of books on the population question. Hartman's critique of global special interests in population and the environment are must reading for students and policy analysts."

—Judy Norsigian and Norma Swenson, co-authors, The New Our Bodies, Ourselves

"If I had time to read just one book to gain an understanding of the population and development link, this one would be it."

—Dianne J. Forte, National Black Women's Health Project

"It is unusual to find such a clear explanation of the complex issues involved in population control in the modern world; Ms. Hartmann's clarity can have come only from enormous work and deep understanding. This is a modern analysis which gives us hope."

—Jonathan Mann, Director, FXB Center for Health and Human Rights, Harvard School of Public Health

"At this juncture in history when victim blaming has become more blatant and oppressive, there is a need for voices of sanity. This book is such a voice. It reflects conviction, courage, sensitivity, and deep insight."

—Mira Shiva, International Health Activist

About South End Press

South End Press is a nonprofit, collectively run book publisher with over 170 titles in print. Since our founding in 1977, we have tried to meet the needs of readers who are exploring, or are already committed to, the politics of radical social change.

Our goal is to publish books that encourage critical thinking and constructive action on the key political, cultural, social, economic, and ecological issues shaping life in the United States and in the world. In this way, we hope to give expression to a wide diversity of democratic social movements and to provide an alternative to the products of corporate publishing.

Through the Institute for Social and Cultural Change, South End Press works with other political media projects—Z Magazine; Speak Out!, a speakers bureau; the New Liberation News Service; and the Publishers Support Project—to expand access to information and critical analysis. If you would like a free catalog of South End Press books, please write to us at: South End Press, 116 Saint Botolph Street, Boston, MA 02115. Also please consider participating in our membership program: your $40 annual fee entitles you to two free books and a 40 percent discount on all purchases within the year.
