Homosexual life puts kids at risk

The recent decision of Big Brothers Big Sisters of America making it mandatory for local chapters to accept homosexual volunteers makes no sense to any thinking adult or concerned parent. I am also very disturbed the Springfield News-Leader is endorsing this decision.

While not all homosexuals are pedophiles, according to Dr. Judith Reisman, leading expert on the sexual revolution and the effects it's had on our culture, homosexual men are 40 percent more likely to molest boys than heterosexual men are to molest girls. BBBS won't allow a male to mentor a female child, but our boys are at a greater risk if their mentor is homosexual.

Checking the criminal record of mentors won't tell the whole story either since 80 percent of child molesters don't spend a single day in prison. Just take a look at the recent Catholic priest scandal. These priests weren't molesting girls, but innocent boys.

Most parents don't realize the dangers of having homosexuals mentoring their children and the media likes to hide this information. Homosexuality is a lifestyle that leads to disease, dysfunction and death, and no youth organization should be promoting this lifestyle or allowing our children to be at risk by being mentored by these gay adults.
